

REIMAGINE LEARNING

A Practitioner's Platform for Livelihoods

Knowledge,
knowledge
everywhere!

but, not a drop to drink!

We had always felt that there is a need for a learning platform in livelihoods. To test our suspicions, we spoke to those to whom it really matters.

Students, Consultants,
Funders, Implementation
Agencies, Communities and Govt. Officers.

EVERYONE HAD THE SAME STORY TO TELL.

There is a lot of knowledge out there now, but most of it is neither practical nor easily accessible. This led us to develop a practitioner's platform for livelihoods.

This platform has two broad sections

LIVE ONLINE PRESENTATIONS

A simple, practical, 'how to' line online presentation on the emerging topics like how to set up a collective enterprise, how to access markets, how to develop a business strategy, to name a few.

These presentations will be accompanied by tool kits that helps one apply the lessons to one's specific context.

CURATED RESOURCES

It provides a collection of the best data, information, knowledge, perspectives and wisdom in the area of livelihoods. The content is curated – collected from different sources online and offline, sorted and tagged, reviewed for its quality and uploaded for everyone to see.

Visual Data

A pictorial representation of perspectives presented with the help of authenticated data.

Best Practices

Distilled best practices from the practitioners.

Community Reports

Reports on various communities that provide basic data and perspectives on different producer groups.

Interviews

Words of wisdom from those who are key contributors to the livelihood sector.

Case Studies

Example of successful and not so successful case studies from around the world to learn from.
